About the Championship

The 2020 Dallas Kosher BBQ Championship will consist of two public events:

On Saturday night, October 24, the barbecue teams will assemble after the end of the Jewish Sabbath, followed by the lighting of the grills and smokers. Teams stay on the site all night, and guests are welcome to hang around for the aromas, the camaraderie and the chance to learn some barbecue secrets.

The big event is Sunday, October 25. The day's festival includes music, food, a large kids fun zone, barbecue preparation and judging, our kids que competition, award presentations, and more. Similar events around the country regularly attract dozens of teams, thousands of visitors and extensive media coverage.

The involvement of the Kansas City Barbeque Society (KCBS) literally puts the Championship on the barbecue map. KCBS has 14,000+ members worldwide, sanctions nearly 300 events in 44 states, and publicizes its events to barbecue enthusiasts worldwide. By having KCBS run the competition process at the event, it ensures a fair competition and impartial judging, which encourages more teams to enter the competition.

There are close to 60,000 Jews in the Dallas area, and numerous Jewish organizations that promote activities of interest to the community. There are also many non-Jews who are interested in kosher food because it connotes tradition, respect and healthful eating. Plus, the event is in Texas – so BBQ is great no matter what!

For the past five years, our event has drawn an average attendance of 1,700+ people.

The event will be held on location at the Sunnyland Outdoor Living Shopping Center, right in the heart of North Dallas at Spring Valley and Coit Roads.

Rain or shine, we'll have a great time!

Proceeds of the event will benefit programs and initiatives of Congregation Beth Torah's Men's Club as well as our charity partner, Jewish Family Service DFW and their food pantry.

Why is this competition different?

Obviously, a kosher barbecue competition does not include pork, but there are other significant differences:

- Beef ribs are included in the competition, in addition to chicken, turkey and beef brisket.
- All grills, smokers and utensils are provided by the organizers to ensure they are kosher. This actually encourages participation, as competitors do not have to haul their own equipment. It also creates a very even playing field for all the teams, as no one has an advantage over another based on their equipment.
- Meats, condiments and spices are provided as well for the same reason. Competitors may bring unopened packages of products that are certified kosher.
- All preparations are done on site, under the supervision of KCBS officials and kosher authorities. This increases the time that competitors spend together, adding to camaraderie and encouraging future participation.
